

Saturday, Dec. 18, 2004
7 p.m.

Friday, Dec. 24, 2004
1 p.m.
Call for pricing

SEPTIME WEBRE'S NEW
THE NUTCRACKER

It's all new and it's the event of the year.
Artistic Director Septime Webre tackles this timeless holiday classic as only he can.

Set in 1882 in Washington, D.C., Webre's Nutcracker will be performed with references to the nation's capital as well as America's rich history. In Clara's dream, the Nutcracker himself will have an uncanny resemblance to George Washington and the Rat King to George III. Act II will take place on the banks of the Potomac River with the cherry blossoms in full bloom and various divertissements will be staged to reflect images of Americana. Don't miss this new Nutcracker beaming with brilliant energy.

THE JOHN F. KENNEDY CENTER
FOR THE PERFORMING ARTS

Giselle

Eisenhower Theater
Saturday, Oct. 23, 2004
2:30 p.m.
Call for pricing

A classic is revisited as The Washington Ballet takes charge of Giselle. At the very heart of the romantic era, Giselle is the extraordinary story of absolute love and unconditional devotion, set to Adolphe Adam's poignant score. Audiences are consistently enraptured by this tale's ethereal, mystical, and sublime magnetism. A true vehicle to exemplify its technical and dramatic mettle, The Washington Ballet wraps its production of Giselle in sensitivity and tenderness.

The Washington Ballet's Gala

Eisenhower Theater
Saturday, Feb. 26, 2005
2:30 p.m.
Call for pricing

Performance for the Kids

Kids and families get moving with Washington Ballet Artistic Director Septime Webre and the Company, at this specially designed, hands-on presentation. The Kids Gala will offer a sampling of energetic works from The Washington Ballet's family-friendly repertoire, as well as Mr. Webre's signature "Make a Ballet."

Romeo and Juliet

Eisenhower Theater
Saturday, Apr. 16, 2005
Call for pricing

In Septime Webre's acclaimed interpretation of Shakespeare's most revered romantic tragedy, Romeo and Juliet reminds its audiences of love as only youth knows it - consuming, reckless, and world-forgetting. Inspired by Prokofiev's expressive score, Webre captures the very essence of this masterpiece, taking us with the young lovers as they rush headlong towards their romantic destiny.

Tickets on sale now at the Recreation Office located in the Drill Hall. Purchase tickets at least 2 weeks before show date. Open to all base personnel. Call 301-342-3648 for more information.